Our fishing adventures are truly an

As creative as we can be, we actually opened up a small Yellow Deli in a shipping container in the fishing camp during the season to entertain the neighboring fishermen! Back to fishing tomorrow... Happy you dropped by!

KNOW YOUR SALMON

Welcome to Bristol Bay, Alaska.

There we find the quiet, very quiet village of Egegik, Alaska. Well, it is not always so calm. When fishing season starts, the weathered fishermen migrate to Egegik from many parts of the USA. If they have a license, which is closely monitored by the US Coast Guard, they are allowed to fish for these most precious of all fish. Our people have been going to this special place in Alaska for many years to find the good wild Alaskan Salmon that is so healthy and of great value.

We are thankful we have been given this opportunity to fish in the pristine wilderness of Alaska. There are not many unspoiled places like this remaining on our planet. We are careful to honor our Creator and give thanks for the fish!

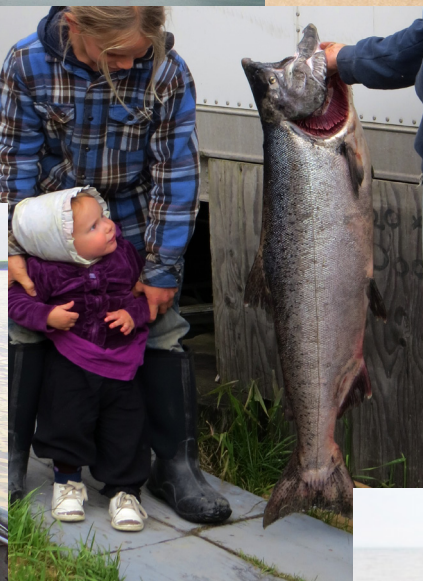

Always under the watchful eye of our Master Fisherman, Earnest, who has been fishing here for 30 years, use it in our Yellow Delis and Community Foods Markets in various places.

we manage to catch lots of fish! Earnest is truly an earnest fisherman who, along with his whole family, came into our community many years ago, and has taught many of our strong young men how to fish. The children are happy to experience the excitement also. With the abundance of our catch each season,

This is something most never get an opportunity to experience... and we are thankful to be able to share our blessing with you. Real wild salmon... really caught in Alaska!

Today's quota of fish has all been caught, and our day is done.

we are now able to not only eat this great fish ourselves, but also worked the freezer it goes, then the airplane trip to the Yellow Delis on the mainland... for our customers to enjoy a delicious

Time to cook up the salmon chowder or grill a fillet and rejoice with a song. The fisherman hard for those fish. And now into
